

Singer-Songwriter Chip Richter's "Dream Big" Family Concert at the Library is "more fun than a Kid (or Parent) should be allowed to have!" It's the kind of high-energy fun and audience participation naturally found in a "live" performance all in the wonderful learning environment of the public library. This is "live" music, no accompaniment tracks, so anything can happen! With his guitar, banjo, harmonica, stories and original tunes Chip connects with the kids and adults, creating moments to remember.

Chip's show for the summer of 2012 will touch on the theme of "Dreaming Big" as he shares stories and songs that will inspire creativity and imagination through the "wonderful adventure" of reading. This summer Chip will be encouraging kids to consider the library and the books they read as a launching pad where they can see their dreams take flight. By using their imaginations and gifts to follow those dreams they will be soaring to amazing heights.

"As a librarian it was a joy to have a performer that knows so much about children and who keeps his show simple, fun and safe. Chip Richter knows his audience and caters to them with great skill."

-Laura C Perenic, Children's Librarian Middletown Public Library

"All ages were treated to a delightful time of fun, interactive and engaging entertainment during Chip's performance. I would highly recommend him to any Children's Librarian seeking a quality program for your library!"

-Barbara Scott, Children's Librarian, Bucyrus Public Library

"Chip Richter is one of those rare performers who can make you feel so at ease, like you could jump up on the stage and put your arm around him while he's singing. He's the real deal, as genuine and kind on stage as he is in real life, and that's why children and their parents love him."

-Zak Morgan- Gammy Nominated Children's Performer

"With upbeat tempos, fun tunes, smart and encouraging lyrics, singer-songwriter Chip Richter reminds us just how special we all are". -Parent Review
